

— WISH, WANTS, AND NEEDS —

Give yourself the freedom to imagine and dream in this step. Ignore practical considerations for the moment. The first list is the 'I WISH' list, for those items that you've drooled over in a magazine, or relegated to the 'if I won the lottery, I would get this' file. The second list is the 'I WANT' list – for those items you really want, but don't necessarily need. Don't include any item whose omission from the final design would be devastating; this type of item belongs in the third category – 'I NEED'. The 'I need' list are those items that you could not live without, and are the first source that we turn to during the design of the project. Make these lists comprehensive.

Don't leave out anything, no matter how small or inconsequential it may seem.
